

CITY COUNCIL TO PURCHASE NEW FIRE APPARATUS

Committee Instructed to Conclude Investigation and Make Report.

REPAIRING OF MAIN STREET CONSIDERED

Immediate Action Urged Looking to Early Improvement.

The Paris will soon have new and improved fire fighting apparatus was made evident at the meeting of the Council last night when the Fire Committee of the Board was instructed to take definite action in regard to the purchase of new equipment for use in the department.

Some time ago the Council had under consideration the purchase of an automobile fire apparatus, and a thorough investigation of the merits of the products of the various producers were investigated by the members of the Fire Committee, acting upon the instructions of the Council. Plans and specifications of several high-class machines were secured, but were never submitted to the Board. Since that time the matter seemed to have been dropped entirely, until last night Mayor Hinton again took up the subject and urged the committee to immediate action.

According to the instructions of the Mayor, the Fire Committee is to proceed at once upon the matter with the one object in view of purchasing the most improved apparatus that is to be procured, and be ready at the next meeting of the Council to lay the matter before the Board, that there may be no further delay in the matter which has been at rest for some time.

It is understood that the committee had previously decided upon a machine that would meet all the requirements of the local department, and that within the next few days they will have a representative of the auto-manufacturing company on the ground to go over the details of the apparatus that the committee may be fully prepared to explain all the merits at the next meeting of the Board.

Another matter which was of a very important nature, taken up by the Council at its meeting last night was the consideration of laying new streets and the repaving of Main street from Second street to Tenth. With the approach of spring and suitable weather for such work, it was the opinion of the members of the Council that no time should be lost in placing the street in the proper condition for travel.

The Improvement Committee was given instructions to secure an estimate on the cost of resurfacing the present street between the points named, and to investigate the cost of a new street to be constructed of any material which in its judgment would be acceptable to the Council. The committee is to be prepared to present the result of its investigations at the next regular meeting of the Board, when a definite plan will be decided upon and action taken immediately to improve the main thoroughfare of the city.

DR. FALLIS WINS CHAMPIONSHIP

Louisville Man Takes State Trophy at Hill Top Range.

Dr. Fallis, of Louisville, won the State Championship Trophy at the bird shoot held yesterday at the range of the Hill Top Gun Club, on the farm of Mr. Alfred Clay, near Austerlitz.

Dr. Fallis defeated a good field in the championship race, dropping 24 birds out of a possible 25 in the first set, tying Strother, of Winchester, in the shoot-off and in the final won when he knocked down four out of five birds.

The weather conditions were ideal and there was a large crowd at the range. There were about thirty entrants in the feature event for the silver trophy in which some of the best sportsmen in the State participated and some excellent shooting was witnessed. The highest scores were as follows:

The first four being tied for the

HENRY DAMAGE SUIT ON TRIAL IN CIRCUIT COURT

Case Called For Trial When Court Convened Wednesday Morning.

MANY WITNESSES ARE EXAMINED.

Conclusion Will Probably Be Reached By Saturday.

The twenty-five thousand dollar damage suit of Estis Henry against the Louisville & Nashville railroad company was called for trial Wednesday morning when Judge Stout convened court.

The suit is for damages alleged to have been sustained by Henry while he was an employee of the company. The accident in which Henry was injured occurred at Berry Station, in Harrison county, last August. A cable which was being used to draw a plow across a train of cars loaded with ballast broke, and striking Henry, knocked him down, his head striking against one of the steel rails, fracturing his skull and inflicting other injuries from which, it is said, he has never recovered, and leaving him permanently injured.

The jury to try the case is composed of John Wiggins, Clark Barnett, Lindsay Stewart, Owen Kennedy, James S. Douglass, A. D. Leach, Joseph Leach, James Kiser, H. L. Clark, Lloyd Ashurst, Jeff Denton and R. E. Bedwood.

When the case was called for trial Wednesday morning the first witness introduced was Dr. W. S. Reynolds, a specialist, of Louisville, who gave expert testimony in regard to the condition of Henry, of whom he had made an examination. He testified as to the nature of the injuries sustained by the plaintiff. He was on the stand from the time the case was called until 4:30 o'clock. Four other witnesses were examined before the court adjourned until Thursday morning.

The taking of testimony was resumed yesterday morning when the attorneys for the plaintiff introduced Dr. Martha Petree, who occupied the stand until the noon hour, and after the examination of the trained nurse who attended Henry while he was a patient in the local hospital, the plaintiff closed.

Dr. C. G. Daugherty, who performed the operation on Henry at the Massie Hospital, was the first witness introduced by the defense, and the taking of his testimony occupied the entire afternoon. After admonishing the jury Judge Stout adjourned court until this morning at nine o'clock.

A large number of witnesses are yet to be introduced by the defense, and the case will probably occupy all of today and perhaps a part of tomorrow, when the arguments will be made and the case submitted to the jury.

Tuesday morning the case of the Commonwealth against John Masterson was called for trial. Masterson was charged with striking and wounding another, and the jury returned a verdict fining the defendant $400.

T. F. Brannon, under indictment for selling liquor to a minor, and maintaining a nuisance, was dismissed upon the former charge and assessed a fine of $50 on the latter.

Shortly after the trial Brannon accused C. P. Cook, the Main street groceryman, who was one of the witnesses against him, and knocked him down and beat him severely. The men, it is said, met at the corner of Main and Seventh streets, when Brannon is alleged to have struck Cook in the mouth, knocking him down, and kicked him several times.

Mr. M. F. Kenney, who witnessed the affair, interposed and prevented further trouble. Cook's face was bruised and he is said to be suffering from several hurts about the body.

Brannon was placed under arrest by Patrolman King and taken before Judge January, where the charge of assault and battery was entered against him and he was released on $300 bond. Upon complaint of Cook he was later in the afternoon arrested on a warrant issued by County Judge C. A. McMillan, and he was placed under bond of $1,000 to keep the peace. His appearance is set for March 31 before Judge McMillan.

Upon being apprised of the incident Circuit Judge issued a writ for Brannon to appear in court yesterday morning on the charge of contempt of court.

His hearing was set for yesterday morning but was postponed.

championship of the State, a set of five birds each was arranged for the shoot-off which resulted as follows: Fallis, 5; Strother, 5; Booker, 4; Hammer-smith, 4.

Fallis and Strother engaged in the final test for the honors, the former breaking four out of five, while the latter missed two of the birds.

The contest was the most spirited ever witnessed on the Hill Top range.

PLANS ARE BEING FORMULATED FOR GENERAL CLEANING

Movement Is To Extend All Over County of Bourbon.

MISS HUNT TAKES THE INITIATIVE.

Will Have Co-operation of Welfare League and Health Board.

Paris and Bourbon county will have a general clean-up day during the coming month, or at least that is what those interested in the health of the community at large are working on, and it is more than likely that the plans will materialize.

Miss Emma Hunt, who has been here acting in the capacity of a visiting nurse sent out by the State Tuberculosis Association is at the head of the movement, and is meeting with much encouragement from all sides, and indications are that she will receive unlimited aid from every source in the county.

One of the plans set forth by Miss Hunt to further the movement and to arouse the interest of the citizens of the county, is a joint meeting of the County Board of Health with the Bourbon County Health and Welfare League.

According to Miss Hunt through this plan the agitation looking toward a general clean-up can be carried to all points of the county through the Health Board as well as the Health and Welfare League, and the fact that there are a great many members of the later organization, the agitation will be widespread as soon as plans for the movement are formulated at the meeting which will be held on Thursday, April 2.

Only a week's time will be had to put the matter before the people, as it is the plan to have the date for the general clean-up on April 7, but, notwithstanding this fact, the movement will be general and the interest for a better and cleaner county will be widespread.

It is planned to divide the county into four separate districts and a committee appointed to carry on the work. All the plans will be worked out at the meeting to be held next Thursday, when the most active work looking to popular movement will begin, and which are expected to result in a great success.

NUTMEG AS A PROPHYLACTIC

Many Englishmen Are Taking Up an Ancient Old American Rheumatism Preventive.

London.—An extraordinary alleged "cure" for rheumatism is being talked of here. The cult of nutmeg carrying as a sort of charm against the disease has increased rapidly of late.

"For a good many years," writes a clubman to the Daily Mirror, "a few people have been carrying nutmegs as a kind of protection against rheumatism, and now many others are following their example. Consequently there has been an increased demand for nutmegs, although the price of them has not gone up so far. Those who have adopted the cult declare that, however severely they suffered from rheumatism before, all traces of the trouble ceased as soon as they began to wear the 'charm,' and that they never have any recurrence of the complaint so long as they continue to carry a nutmeg on their person. Some have the nut attached to the watch chain by a gold clasp and keep it constantly in the watch pocket; others in neat leather receptacles, which are being made for this express purpose by up-to-date Bond street shops.

"Women—and there are many who have caught the nutmeg-wearing craze—often have the aromatic charm fixed in a gold or platinum claw and suspended by a light chain from the waist or garter."

A Church of England dignitary who has worn a nutmeg for many years, said that the belief in the efficiency of the nut to cure and prevent rheumatism was no mere superstition. He attributed its power to the carminative properties of the oils contained in the kernel—properties which from time immemorial have been known to the natives of the Banda Islands, whence come nutmegs.

A London doctor was very skeptical. "It is evidently an old fetish revived," he said. It is absurd to imagine that by carrying a nutmeg you can ward off rheumatism. You might as well carry a stone and put your belief in that. Still, the nutmeg has certain properties as an antidote to rheumatism. Mixed with rum, its essential oils make a liniment that I have known used with success in what is called 'tropical sore throat'—a form of tropical 'rheumatism.'

The representative of a firm of spice merchants said that he had heard of the belief in the nutmeg "antidote." "As a matter of fact," he said, "a leading member of our firm carries a nutmeg about with him and swears by it as a 'warder-off' of rheumatism."

No New Englander needs to be reminded that the nutmeg as a rheumatism prophylactic has been venerated for centuries in the Eastern United States.

ONE OF FREAKS OF NATURE

Stick-Insect Passes Into a State of Catalepsy Instead of Slumber During Daylight Hours.

London.—Professor Schmidt of the Imperial university of St. Petersburg has been experimenting with a species of Phasmid, or "stick-insect." As a result of his investigations he has discovered that these insects pass daily into a state of catalepsy, or trance, and that they do not merely slumber, or remain instinctively quiescent, during the hours of daylight, as has been supposed. The photographs show the normal pose of the stick-insect when in a cataleptical state, and some of the extraordinary postures which Professor Schmidt made the creatures assume. They remained in these abnormal positions, without movement of any kind, for from one to four and a half hours; and when their catalepsy passed, they showed no signs of muscular fatigue. It should be added that these stick-insects feed at night, on the foliage of the plants which they frequent. As Professor Schmidt points out, their cataleptic state may be regarded as an accommodation to a highly developed protective resemblance. The Phasmids can only be awakened artificially by prolonged excitation of the nervous system; for example, by continuous pinching with forceps, or by electric shocks from an induction coil.

In an Abnormal Position During a Trance; a Stick-Insect Standing on its Head; a Position for Four and a Half Hours.

PAQUIN GOWNS ON FRENCH MANIKINS

Tailored Coats With Directorate Collars Modified By Japanese Effects

SKIRTS HAVE UNDULATING LINES

NEW YORK, March 26.—The French fashion invasion of America began a year ago when Worth made us a visit, apparently with the object of finding out the actual requirements of the American woman so as to be more in touch with her practical needs. His visit was marked by a conservative attitude and a lack of display typical of the great house of Worth.

The second great couturier to follow M. Worth's example was Paul Poiret, who came last fall, making a more sensational appeal to the public with moving pictures showing his house in Paris and his manikins wearing his creations. To these conferences invitations were given and there was no attempt at a theatrical display; rather, it was a voyage of discovery in search of the American woman on her native heath.

A Charming Young Girl's Frock of Figured Chiffon in Cubist Colors On a White Ground.

The interest aroused by M. Poiret was further accentuated and focused on Madame Poiret, who wore gowns with grace and charm, typical of M. Poiret's creative genius. In almost every instance, his gowns showed a loose waisted effect that gave ample play to every muscle of the body. The wonderful fabrics and combinations of colors proved the originality for which Poiret alone is master. His gowns are often impractical, but full of inspiration, and have done much toward the awakening of originality and creative quality in the great French houses.

Following the example of these two great leaders of fashions, the House of Paquin has now brought to this country an exhibit of gowns on manikins for which one must pay admission.

As each couturier has a strong tendency toward some individual style, in the Paquin gowns certain tendencies are strongly marked, noticeably the lack of the bustle effect and the long straight lines of the back.

The collars of the coats and blouses fall well away from the neck and stand out with a continuation of the rolled effect of the Japanese collar often carried out in more than one collar, such as a striped silk collar over a large plain-colored collar, with an inside flaring collar of sheer white or gandy.

The line of the bottom skirt is rarely straight among these Paquin models. Often it is scalloped, at times uneven, and usually with the fullness inserted on either side from the knee down or with rounded slits, from which an underflow of another material is visible.

The majority of the thin gowns show a white foundation stamped at intervals with a Cubist design, and the edges bound with a bias fold, more than half an inch deep, matching in color the tones of the design.

The waists of these sheer gowns show the same tendency to be high in front and low in the back as shown in the majority of the Paquin models. Usually they are treated behind in some fancy manner, either a bow with tassled ends and wide loops, or some soft draping that gives a not too pronounced sash effect. The front often has two or three materials placed one on top of the other and each partly showing. A sheer lace or net gives the effect of an inner yoke touching the skin, and another layer or lace of chiffon separates the material of the gown from this inner fabric.

The bewitching little gown which I have used for my first illustration is a charming example of what Paquin shows for the young girl. Chiffon figured with a widely spread Cubist rose design is the basic material over which the gown is made. The waist is short without any girdle or sash, but finished with a narrow girde of the chiffon, as though the upper part of the skirt was gathered to form it. The kimono waist is most charmingly and girlishly trimmed with bands of gathered white chiffon edged with frills of net on the shoulder, while the front of the waist is of chiffon shirred several times and held in place by a narrow black velvet ribbon and a frill of net at each shirring. The charming little hat so suited to the young girl is of soft blue horsehair braid, trimmed with pink roses.

A straight piece of charmeuse was well arranged on one side of the models. The straight of the thread was placed at the front over the bust. It was slit up and the ends tied behind in a rather decorative sash, while the pointed edges of the slit of the waist were finished to simulate the points of a waistcoat.

The materials used for three stunning tailored suits were surprisingly simple. One was developed in black and white shepherd's plaid, the second in sage-green serge, and the third in dark blue mohair, with a wide stripe composed of small stripes of alternating red and yellow and green.

The skirts of these suits were plain with inserted pleats at each side below the knee, the plaid of each skirt was cut on the bias, and the inserted pleats had a rippling, uneven effect at the skirt's bottom. The striped mohair had the side pleats treated differently; between each wide stripe the center of the dark stripe was slashed for an inserted pleat and bound narrowly with red. These pleats were of uneven length; that is, the center pleat extended higher than the pleat, front and back, by at least four or five inches.

The coats showed the influence of the empire and directorio collars modified by Japanese tendencies. The sleeves were usually set in loose, so they gave the impression of kimono sleeves. The fronts were short, coming to a point over the bust, where they were fastened by three closely spaced bone buttons. The backs, cut in one piece, had two fairly deep pleats extending from the shoulder to the waist, where the collar would have joined the shoulder seam, if there had been one. At the waist either several buttons or the band extended from the front held these pleats firmly in place; while below this, which did not extend from the back at all, the double box-pleats fell freely to the knees in an extremely graceful manner.

Roman and Awning-Striped Skirts With Tunics in Solid Colors in Great Vogue.

er. On these coats the collars were large and rolling, giving the effect of a blown-up sailor collar, and extended from shoulder to shoulder. Each collar was plain, but several, placed one on top of the other, gave a complicated appearance.

My second illustration shows a Roman striped and plain serge, which together makes a very striking costume. This is a favored combination of Poiret's, and for that reason very popular with many women. It has an added charm in suggesting how to remodel a couple of last season's frocks into an effective and up-to-date dress. The awning-striped skirts also promise great popularity.

Candle Light Farming. Carlyle—Miss Lida E. Gardner, county school superintendent of Nicholas county, has effected an organization of the teachers of the county to conduct night agricultural schools. The teachers have now begun to enroll pupils for the night schools in their respective districts, and many adults are signifying their intention of entering. The schools will open next summer about the time the regular schools open.

OHIO COUPLE AND SQUIRE MEASURE 19 FEET, 9 INCHES

Nineteen feet and nine inches of humanity figured in the wedding of David M. Smith and Mary L. Hanson, winter tourists from Yellow Springs, O., who were stopping at Palmetto Beach, Mobile, Ala.

The bridegroom is six feet five inches tall. The bride is six feet, six inches, and the Magistrate, H. H. Smith, who performed the ceremony, is six feet, ten inches tall.

IS YOUR BEARD WORTH $60,000?

What is the value of a beard? That is the novel question which the learned justices of the Supreme Court at Washington have been asked to determine. The case in point is that of E. A. O'Sullivan, 65, a prominent Louisiana lawyer, who placed a value of $60,000 on his beard. O'Sullivan, who was formerly district attorney, State senator and city attorney of New Orleans, claims that he was forcibly deprived of his hirsute adornment on election day in November, 1908 by Paul Felix, a justice of the peace, and William W. Stiles, a deputy sheriff.

When a girl filts a young man she may be doing him a great kindness—but he doesn't realize it until later.

CATARRH OF THE PHARYNX.

Clearing out your throat every day, all day. That is what you have been doing for months. Possibly years. A little mucus covers the pharynx.

If you were to go to a doctor he would tell you that you have pharyngitis. If you were to look into your own throat you would find just back of the soft palate a red, lumpy, granular appearance of the back part of the throat. Pharyngitis the doctors call it.

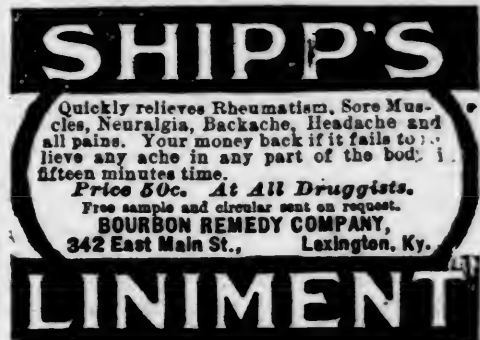

Perhaps he would call it, follicular pharyngitis. It causes you constant annoyance. You are always making slight disturbances when seated in an audience. Can't hold your throat still. Stringy mucus bothers you. Worse in the morning.

A-hem! A-hem! A-hem! That is the way you are going nearly all day. Sometimes in the night when you wake up. You ought to gargle your throat with salt water every morning. Cold salt water. That clears out the throat perfectly and makes it ready for treatment.

Peruna is the treatment. Begin with a teaspoonful before each meal and at bedtime. Try it for a week. You will be convinced. Of course, Peruna will not entirely relieve you in a week. That is too much to expect of any remedy. But it will benefit you so much you will be convinced. Yes, it will. It has done this many times.

Follicular pharyngitis. Big words. Almost as bad as the disease. But if you take Peruna for one month regularly, you may forget that you ever had such a disease. Then you will have a perfect right to forget the big words too.

People who object to liquid medicines can now obtain Peruna Tablets.

DEATHS

KABLER.

—Little Mary Tilton Kabler, the beautiful baby daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Kabler, died Wednesday morning at 12:30 o'clock, at their apartments over the store of Mr. J. D. Burnaugh, on South Main street. The little one was ten and one-half months old and she died after an illness of a week with pneumonia. She is survived by her parents and two older sisters, Allene and Lucile, aged nine and four years, respectively.

The funeral services were conducted yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock, at the residence, by Rev. J. S. Sims, of the Methodist church, and the burial took place in the Paris cemetery.

MENG.

—The funeral of Mr. Chas. Meng, who died in the Bermuda Islands last Wednesday, was held Wednesday afternoon, at 2 o'clock, at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Meng, near North Middletown, and was largely attended by sympathizing friends from North Middletown, Paris, Lexington, Carlisle and Winchester.

The service was conducted by Rev. John Christopherson, of the Christian church, who selected as the foundation for his remarks the twenty-third or Shepherd Psalm. A quartette sang "There'll Be No Sorrowing There," and "Some Day We'll Understand." A sad feature of the occasion was the absence of the bereaved mother, who is at Hot Springs, Ark., and was unable to come. Mr. Meng's sister, Mrs. Bacon, and her husband, of Lowell, Mass., were present.

Besides his parents and sister, Mr. Meng is survived by two brothers, Mr. Walter Meng and Mr. Calvert Meng. A number of Confederate soldiers, comrades of Mr. Meng, were in attendance, and acted as honorary pallbearers. The body was laid to rest in the North Middletown cemetery, by the side of that of his young brother, James Meng, and beneath a profusion of beautiful flowers.

Among those from Paris who attended the funeral were: Mr. C. C. Leer, Miss Carroll Leer, Mrs. W. R. Scott, Mrs. Watson Judy, Dr. and Mrs. J. A. Gilkey, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Morris, Mrs. Anne Prichard, Dr. C. J. Clarke, Mr. L. J. Fretwell and Mrs. Edwaid Prichard.

TOOK BICHLORIDE OF MERCURY THROUGH MISTAKE

Letters received by relatives in this city tell of the narrow escape of Mr. John Bronson, son of Mr. John I. Bronson, of Jacksonville, Fla., when through mistake he took bichloride of mercury. Mr. Bronson had been feeling badly for several days, and was part of the time confined to his bed. He got up to take his medicine, and the poison, which had been used by Mrs. Bronson to treat a burn on her hand, which she had sustained several days previous, was secured through mistake. The tablets were similar to those he had been taking, and he did not discover his error until he felt a burning sensation in his throat. He summoned assistance and when it was found that he had taken the poison an antidote was administered before the arrival of a physician, who had him hurried to a hospital. His condition for a time was regarded as serious, but the latest information is that he is now out of danger. Mrs. Bronson, who was formerly Miss Nan Wilson, of this city, is his stepmother.

O'SULLIVAN'S REASONS.

Editor O'Sullivan, of the Shelby Sentinel, who has always been in the front ranks fighting for former Governor Beckham, advances some good reasons for being for him in his race for United States Senator in the following editorial recently published in the Sentinel:

"The choice of the the Sentinel for United States Senator is today the same as it was four years ago. It is not a convert to any new doctrine, and does not try, like many a new convert, to drive from the spotlight any of the old friends of the former Governor, J. C. W. Beckham. Nor does this paper mind the criticism of those who would point to a seeming inconsistency on its part. As has been frequently stated by this paper, that its choice for United States Senator is not based on Beckham's Prohibition tenets, but, on the contrary, in spite of them.

"The Sentinel thinks such an issue as prohibition is too narrow a one, indeed, to pitch the candidacy for the United States of any man, friend or foe, past or present, within the Democratic fold. If you seek the reason for the Sentinel's choice, all that need be said is that Beckham is a fine, clear-cut, straight-thinking, honest, capable, courageous, well-poised fellow, with plenty of strength of character to organize his forces and at all times ready and willing to give unswerving and unflinching loyalty to the party that loves to honor him. If these be not satisfactory reasons to some, they are self-sufficient to the Shelby Sentinel, and that's an end on it."

AS OTHERS SEE US.

If we could see ourselves as others see us Paris and Bourbon county would display a little more interest in maintaining institutions that have been organized for the betterment of the community, and at the same time put them in the front ranks with similar institutions throughout the State.

Recently the announcement was made by the directors of the Bourbon County Agricultural Society that unless the people of the county would accord better support to the Bourbon Fair it would be discontinued. If the fair is to be discontinued it will not be the first organization in the county to be forced out through the lack of interest on the part of the people.

The Bourbon Fair has a reputation throughout the State because it is the oldest fair west of the Alleghany Mountains. People of other cities have taken notice of the probable discontinuance of the old organization, and are free to take the opportunity of criticizing the Bourbon people for permitting it to fall behind. In regard to it the Louisville Times of Wednesday had the following in its editorial columns:

"The Bourbon County Agricultural Society has issued a statement to the effect that, unless the people of the county rally to the support of the fair, it will have to be discontinued. It is to be hoped that the appeal will be productive of good results. Bourbon county is one of the richest in the State, and there seems no reason why the county fair should not receive adequate support, though it is said that the fair has been conducted at a loss for the last four years. Civic pride should come to the rescue in Bourbon and make it possible to maintain the county fair, and maintain it at a profit. There are many counties in Kentucky, less wealthy than Bourbon, that hold successful fairs every year."

The Columbia Tomorrow.

"The Vacant Chair" (Princess) She was a lovely but hard-headed old lady and she was determined that no other woman should ever take her dead daughter's place. So when her widowed son falls in love with a new-comer to the town, a very attractive young widow, she is so displeased that she exiles him from the old home, though still welcoming her grandson as a frequent visitor. The son marries the widow, and the town approves. But grandmother does not relent. Then she begins to be very lonely. A young girl becomes friendly with the solitary old lady, and they grow to love each other. One day the grandson comes and finds with grandmother Dorothea, the daughter of his father's new wife. Grandmother is already secretly in love with the girl, who is remarkably pretty and sweet. She darts out of the house when she sees him, leading him a chase down the street, and grandmother follows them. They all come together in the house of the recently married son. Grandmother learns then who her winsome young companion of many lonely weeks is,

SPECIALIST MAKING RAPID ADVANCES.

Dr. Milton Stern, who recently located in this city for the practice of his profession, is perhaps one of the most promising young specialists in the State of Kentucky today. Graduating from the Paris High School several years ago, and for eight years pursuing his studies in the most prominent schools of New York, Dr. Stern has eminently fitted himself for a place among the professional men of this city and State.

Shortly after his graduation in the New York school Dr. Stern located in the South and opened his office in a small Georgia town, where he received a most liberal patronage, but finding the field at that place entirely too small, he decided to locate in his old home, where the prospect for a rapid advancement was very bright.

A few weeks ago he secured a lease on office room in the Daugherty building, at the corner of Main and Fifth streets, and from the start he has received every encouragement which will ultimately lead to unlimited success.

Dr. Stern made a specialty of the treatment of diseases of the ear and eye, and so proficient is he in the advanced methods of treatment for such diseases that he is receiving the highest praise not only from patients, but from the professional men of this city, and words of commendation from all sides are to be heard upon his accomplishments.

WOMAN COULD NOT SIT UP

Now Does Her Own Work. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Helped Her.

Ironton, Ohio.—"I am enjoying better health now than I have for twelve years. When I began to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I could not sit up. I had female troubles and was very nervous. I used the remedies a year and I can do my work and for the last eight months I have worked for other women, too. I cannot praise Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound enough for I know I never would have been as well if I had not taken it and I recommend it to suffering women."

Daughter Helped Also.

"I gave it to my daughter when she was thirteen years old. She was in school and was a nervous wreck, and could not sleep nights. Now she looks so healthy that even the doctor speaks of it. You can publish this letter if you like."—Mrs. RENA BOWMAN, 161 S. 10th Street, Ironton, Ohio.

Why will women continue to suffer day in and day out and drag out a sickly, half-hearted existence, missing three-fourths of the joy of living, when they can find health in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound?

If you have the slightest doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

PLACED HIS BAN ON EVILS

Indulgence in Smoking and Liquor Means Forfeit of Heirs of Share in Rich Estate.

Bloomington, Ill.—Before Mora and Letta Murdock, and their brother Max, children of the late J. T. Murdock of La Salle county, can benefit under their father's will, they must appear before the probate court and take a solemn oath that they have not smoked or chewed tobacco nor partaken of intoxicating liquors for two years previously.

The last will and testament of the dead millionaire is unique in the annals of the probate courts of central Illinois. While the testator was known to be a total abstainer himself, he was never intolerant in his reference to others who might drink or smoke, and the will just placed on record by the administrator was a great surprise to his family and friends.

To guard against a false affidavit, Mr. Murdock provided that in the event such deceit was resorted to, that a protest made by any person acquainted with the facts must be given consideration by the court. Should the accusation be substantiated, the person who made the false affidavit must forfeit all share in the estate.

The heirs are given life interest in the property, and the will provides that the anti-tobacco and anti-liquor stipulations are also binding upon their children and grandchildren.

The will bequeaths the personal property to the widow and divides the real estate equally between the two daughters and son. All three children are grown and prominent in society circles. The trio say that there will be no danger of any forfeit of their share in the estate, as all are opposed to the use of tobacco and intoxicants.

The clause of the will relating to tobacco and liquor reads as follows:

"It has been my aim and ambition during the whole time I have been acquiring and saving the property herein devised, to leave the same for the improvement of the minds, and not for the debasement of the bodies of those who may come into its possession. To that end, after due deliberation, it is my will, and I do hereby especially provide, that no one who uses tobacco, by smoking or chewing, or shall be in the habit of using intoxicating liquor as a beverage, shall have any share in the property or income thereof devised by me. Before anyone shall take any benefit or any property bequeathed or devised by me, such one, my wife excepted, shall file in the court where this will may be admitted to probate, his or her affidavit, and such other additional proof as may be required to convince the court of the truth of such affidavit, that he or she has not used tobacco, for smoking or chewing, nor has been in the habit of getting intoxicated or of using intoxicating liquors as a beverage during the full period of the two years immediately prior to the time such affidavit shall be filed."

"KING" OF SWAN'S ISLE DEAD

Pictureque Carer of Alonzo Adams, Yankee Skipper, Ended in Boston Hospital.

Boston, Mass.—Alonzo Adams, one-time Yankee skipper, later "king" of Swan's island in the Caribbean sea, and for the last few years a Connecticut farmer, is dead at the Massachusetts General hospital in this city at the age of 78.

Mr. Adams, or "the king," as he was best known, was born in Ellsworth, Me., of seafaring parents. About twenty-three years ago a vessel of which he was captain was chartered by a company to carry a commercial expedition to certain Caribbean islands. The venture failed and Adams accepted for his pay the rights to Swan's island, one of the group of which the company had acquired possession. There the Yankee skipper established a small kingdom, taking the title of king and introducing royal customs. He developed his kingdom commercially, and within a few years had amassed a small fortune.

Three years ago he accepted an offer from a development company and sold his kingdom, returned to "the states" and settled down on a farm at Easthampton, Conn.

"MOVIES" PUT TO NOVEL USE

New Jersey Spectator at Theater Told on Screen Burglars Are Busy in His Home.

Boonton, N. J.—Mr. and Mrs. Norman Browers were spectators at a moving picture show here when one of the film dramas was suddenly interrupted with these scribbled words thrown on the screen:

"Norman Browers wanted at home at once."

The message was a burglar alarm. A sixteen-year-old daughter had been attacked by a burglar at the Browers home, a mile distant, and her grandparents, who had found her unconscious and bleeding from a wound in the head, had telephoned to the theater, where the unusual burglar alarm startled the parents.

MAN'S DOG MAKES AN ARREST

LUKE McLUKE SAYS

(Cincinnati Enquirer.)

A woman can become highly excited over the fact that a bride is starting out in married life with machine hemmed napkins.

When she was taking piano lessons her mother knew she would make the musical world roll over and play dead. But she usually winds up by pounding the ivories in a moving picture show for five bones per week.

Every moving picture man knows that the audience wouldn't know a horse was galloping across a film unless a flunky back of the screen slapped two coconut shells on a plank.

A man doesn't have to know that he is engaged to a girl as long as she knows it.

There are some ways to keep a husband at home, but pressing him with a Cherokee massacre smoking jacket isn't one of them.

When the Nice Young Man has reached the hand-holding stage and sticks around until midnight, Father always starts something by yelling downstairs and ordering daughter to tell the milkman to leave three quarts.

There always a lot of guys who are always saddled and bridled waiting for some one to drive them to drink. When a man leaves town to go to another town he never gets a job, he always accepts a position.

The man who would rather be right than President always gets his desire.

A man will take a drink himself every now and then and think nothing of it. But as soon as he smells booze on another man's breath he loses confidence in him. A reformer announces that "the tight skirt ruins many a young man." We have seen the passionate hosiery and the ribbons in the rear of the hats but we missed the Lizzies who wear tight skirts.

A woman whose eyes are so weak that she can't read without glasses can look at another woman on the street and tell whether the other woman's union suit is made of cotton or mixed cotton or silk.

WIDOW OF SAM J. ROBERTS WINS SUIT IN U. S. COURT

Mrs. Anna T. Roberts, widow of the late Samuel J. Roberts, of Lexington, won the suits brought against her in the Federal Court at Frankfort by Aubrey Harwell and others, newspaper brokers, of New York, to collect a commission of $5,000 for bringing about the sale of the Lexington Leader to a syndicate of Lexington men. After the evidence was completed in the Federal Court at Frankfort, Judge A. M. J. Cochran directed the jury to return a verdict in favor of Mrs. Roberts.

Russia last year nearly doubled its production of hops over the figures for the previous year.

A woman is apt to get an impression wrong end first—if she steps off a moving street car that way.

The average country town post-office doesn't pay anything worth mentioning. But the privilege of being first to get a peek at the mail will always keep it in demand.

Makes Healthy Bowels

THIS simple rule of health is daily called attention to by every doctor in the land, whose first question to the patient almost invariably is, "Are your bowels regular?" Yet there's not one person in fifty who takes proper care of the bowels. And the result of this foolish neglect is nine-tenths of all ill-health. If today you are unable to free your body of waste matter at the usual time, or if the act causes straining, pains and discomfort, don't let that condition occur again tomorrow. Unless your bowels can carry away the waste materials left after food is digested, decay sets in, the poisons of which, taken up by the blood, increase the risk of Typhoid Fever, Appendicitis, and many other serious diseases. In treating constipation, there is a right way and a wrong way. The wrong way is to take harsh purgatives which even though they do clear the bowels, cause griping and nausea, injure the delicate tissues, and so disturb the normal functions as to cause the return of constipation. The right way is to help Nature to produce natural movement, without pain or discomfort, by using

Rexall Orderlies

More Than One Hundred Million Were Sold Last Year

This enormous quantity was used with good results by busy men who suffered from constipation, due to lack of exercise, or indigestion caused by overwork—by children whose parents realize the harmful effect of common purgatives—by old people whose systems cannot stand anything harsh—by women during pregnancy, and after childbirth, when any medicine with a violent action would be particularly dangerous. Many of these people are your neighbors and friends. Ask anyone who has ever used them—they'll tell you Rexall Orderlies satisfied and helped them.

—a gentle laxative in the form of a chocolate-tasting tablet. One of these tablets eaten just before going to bed will help to restore your bowels to normal activity at a time when, your body being at rest, the medicine can do its best work. As a result of taking that tablet (or say two, if your case is obstinate), your bowels will move easily and naturally in the morning. The use of Rexall Orderlies for a few days afterward will restore normal regularity. Even chronic constipation is benefited by them, and it is not necessary to continue the treatment for a long time, because, instead of driving Nature, they simply help her to help herself.

Sold only at the more than 7,000 Rexall Stores and in this town only by us. In vest pocket tin boxes, 10c, 25c, 50c

This Is Our Guarantee—You Risk No Money

If Rexall Orderlies do not make your bowels act right, tell us so and we'll give back your money without asking a single question. There is no red tape to this guarantee. It means just what it says. You sign nothing. We won't hesitate, or ask you any questions. Your word is enough. If Rexall Orderlies do not do all you expect them to—if you don't feel better after using them and find that they are the pleasantest-acting and best laxative you have ever used, we want you to tell us and get your money back.

Bids for Model Road Rejected.

Mt. Sterling—E. W. James, of the Good Roads Bureau, Department of Agriculture, Washington, opened bids for the construction of a model road, and all were rejected. Bids were ordered advertised for. There were only two bids and they were higher than the Government estimates. H. R. Prewitt and Rufus Knight, trustees of the fund to build roads, say this road will certainly be built this summer.

Frankfort—The State Sinking Fund

Commission will meet some time this week to take up the question of carrying out the provisions of the law requiring a uniform system of accounting for the head of each department of State government and each official, who receives and expends any of the public funds due the Commonwealth of Kentucky. The law goes into immediate effect, carrying an emergency clause and directs that the system shall be installed by July of this year or as soon thereafter as practicable. It allows the commission full power to employ experts to install the system, and requires that daily balances be kept in the Auditor's office and all other handling State funds.

Cigars a Necessity.

Marion—Judge Gordon in the Circuit Court reversed a decision of the City Court on the Sunday closing law as pertaining to druggists, etc. On Wednesday, R. F. Haynes, of Haynes & Taylor, was arrested charged with selling cigars and soft drinks on Sunday, tried before Judge Flynn, of the City Court, and fined $25 and costs. Mr. Haynes appealed the case to the Circuit Court which is in session here, and Judge Gordon reversed the decision. Judge Gordon in reversing the decision said that as the druggists have to open their stores as a matter of necessity for the selling of medicines he might as well sell a cigar or a bottle of coca-cola. A smoker needed a cigar as badly as many another man needed pills or a hungry man needed something to eat.

Hopkinsville—A twenty-year franchise providing for the operation of an electric light and power company in Christian county outside of incorporated towns, the first in Kentucky, was sold to the Kentucky Public Service Company for $114, that being the amount of the costs of advertising and selling the franchise. The Fiscal Court met immediately after the sale and ratified it. This franchise was sold for the purpose of covering the extension of a line from here to Pembroke, over which to furnish current for that town, and other extensions that may be made in the future.

Signs State Aid Road Bill.

Frankfort—Governor McCreary on Wednesday signed the State-aid Bill, levying a tax of five cents on the $100 to create a State road fund with which to aid counties in improving roads. The law goes into effect in 1915, and provides that where a county uses its road fund for permanent improvements under the conditions of the law, which requires plans to be prepared by the State road department and the approval of the contract by the commissioner, the State shall put up dollar for dollar with the county.

As soon as he returned from Louisville the Governor went to work reading bills, and before he quit for the night he had signed all but one bill passed by the General Assembly. Senate Bill 77, providing for commission government for third-class cities. He has not yet had time to read this bill.

He signed House Bill 159, providing for letting the State printing contracts for terms of five years; House Bill 258, requiring itinerant merchants to put up a bond and secure a license; House Bill 267, providing for working convicts on the public roads; House Bill 473, providing that second-class cities, instead of the contractors, shall collect the street improvement assessments; and House Bill 559, which declares that "all public roads, connecting county seats in this Commonwealth, and which may have been or may hereafter be, surveyed or recognized by the State Road Department as the most feasible route for the construction and maintenance of a public highway between said county-seats, to be public works of this Commonwealth."

Gov. McCreary signed the bill including undertaking in the law regulating the business of embalming.

THEATRICAL.

"Damaged Goods" at Lexington.

"Damaged Goods," Eugene Brieux's startling sociological play which Richard Bennett's New York company of co-workers will present at the Lexington Opera House next Monday and Tuesday matinee has the distinction of being the only theatrical entertainment ever presented in the National Capital on the Sabbath Day. The event took place last April when, under the auspices of the Society for Social Hygiene, Richard Bennett brought his company from New York City to Washington in order that members of Congress and other officials in national life might see the play and pass upon its fitness. The play created such a profound impression that the Washington Board of Trade passed a resolution instructing its secretary to see what arrangements could be made for a second presentation in that city.

CADILLAC RESCUES FIRE TRUCK STALLED IN THE SNOW.

Heavy snow-falls throughout New York State have created many transportation difficulties and not the least serious have been those encountered by fire apparatus in responding to alarms. On some occasions even the powerful motor trucks have been stalled in the snow banks and have required outside assistance.

A spectacular incident of this nature occurred recently in Binghamton. A 10,000-pound combination motor fire wagon in responding to an alarm got stuck in a knee-deep snow drift and never did get to the fire. Fortunately the fire did not amount to much and so the results were not disastrous, but the problem of getting this truck back to the fire house remained.

Chief Hoag, however, came to the rescue. The Chief drives a Cadillac, built on a regular chassis but with a backed his car up to the truck, put extra weight in the tonneau to get traction, then hooked on to the truck. A start was made, and the stalled truck moved slowly at first, but soon got under way. It was towed three blocks to a car track where it was able to move under its own power.

has two Cadillacs in service. One of the Binghamton fire department has been in constant service for five years. The other was bought four months ago.

STOMACH HEALTH—OR NO COST TO YOU

Very likely others have advised you to use Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets, because scores of people in this community believe them to be the best remedy ever made for Dyspepsia and Indigestion. That is what we think, too, because we know what they have done for others, and what they are made of. We have so much faith in them that we urge you to try them at our risk. If they don't help you they won't cost you a cent. If they don't do all that you want them to do—if they don't restore your stomach to health and make your digestion easy—just tell us and we will give your money back without a word or question.

Containing Bismuth and Pepsin, two of the greatest digestive aids known to medical science, they soothe the inflamed stomach lining, help in the secretion of gastric juice, check heartburn and distress, promote regular bowel action, and make it possible for you to eat whatever you like whenever you like, with the comforting assurance that there will be no bad aftereffects. We believe them to be the best remedy made for dyspepsia and indigestion. Sold only at the more than 7,000 Rexall Stores, and in this town only at our store. Three sizes, 25c., 50c., and $1.00.—G. WELLESLEY FUTURE IN DOUBT, OFFICIALS SAY

The immediate future of Wellesley College is in doubt as a result of the financial loss sustained in the fire which last Tuesday destroyed College Hall, the largest building of the institution. The true situation, it was said, was not realized until the Executive Committee met and discovered that the estimated loss of $900,000 was based on assessors' valuation of greatly depreciated property, and that the insurance obtainable represented only about one-fourth of the probable cost of restoration.

The Right Reverend William Lawrence, president of the Executive Committee, said that within a few days he would call the trustees together to take some definite action toward putting the college immediately into working order, but at present he said the officers were at sea as to what steps to take.

President Ellen F. Pendleton, of the college, said that all the students had been notified to be back in three weeks, and that it was hoped to resume sessions at that time.

—Mrs. A. S. Best entertained with a rook party Tuesday afternoon in honor of her guests, Mrs. Lucien Maultby, of Washington, Ky., and Miss Louise Best, of Maysville. There were six tables. The color scheme was pink and white, which was nicely carried out. Brick cream and individual cakes were served.

—Miss Alma Duke Jones, of the Cincinnati Conservatory of Music, will give a concert on the evening of April 18, at the M. F. C., under the auspices of the McDowell Musical Club of the College. Miss Jones is a Millersburg girl who is studying at the Conservatory. She is perhaps the most prominent girl that has ever gone out from Millersburg. She is deserving of a large audience.

—The Hurst Home Insurance Co. has moved its office into the new quarters just fitted up in the Odd Fellows' building, from rooms in the home of Mrs. Minnie C. Hurst. The company

Prof. Roscoe Gilmore Stout, of the Eastern Kentucky State Normal Institute, of Richmond, delivered an address on "Kipling." It was a brilliant affair. At the close of the address a social hour was spent, during which time Russian tea and sandwiches were served. The speaker was introduced by the president of the club, Miss Alfa Ball.

—The following petition is submitted to the people of Millersburg, signed, in order that it might be presented to the next meeting of the City 1. If you are interested in the removal of fowls from the streets; if they have been any source of annoyance to you, or have given you any trouble in any way, sign this petition. If not, keep your fist from it. If you are afraid of offending someone who is raising chickens, and at the same time want the petition to go through, then forever hold your peace when the Council meets and the ordinance should fall to pass. The Council is willing to do the right thing if you want it.

"To the Council of the Town of Millersburg, Ky.:

"We, the undersigned, being citizens of the town of Millersburg, Ky., would most respectfully petition the members of the Millersburg Council that they, in regular meeting assembled, enact an ordinance prohibiting the running at large of fowls in the city limits of Millersburg, Ky., and prescribe an adequate penalty for violations of such law.

"We would further represent that the running at large of fowls upon the streets of Millersburg, and upon the premises of others than the owners of the fowls, is annoying, unsanitary, annoying and unhealthful, and we respectfully request the Millersburg Council to provide sufficient laws to prohibit such practice, without interfering in the ownership or raising of such fowls where same are confined to the premises of the owners thereof.

"Wherefore, we respectfully subscribe our names thereto:"
